The House was in session on May 18 for eight hours! It was a long, nonproductive day, in our opinion, with the Democrats in control. Our newsletter will focus on two bills: SB 272 Parental Rights and SB 263 New Hampshire Granite Health Care Extension.

Parental Rights is the reason I ran for the State House. I spent over four months with our school board working on one of their policies - JBAB Transgender and Gender Nonconforming Students. I shared my amazement that a school policy would actually state that the parents are not to be informed, target a minority group and limit the constitutional rights of free speech for students. At the House Session, the Democrats and a small group of Republicans managed to gut SB 272 with several amendments before permanently closing the discussion by indefinitely postponing (195-190) the bill so we cannot discuss it on the floor until the new legislature is elected in 2024!

SB 263 New Hampshire Granite Health Care Extension met with many amendments. I believe 32 in all. In 2019 the Granite Advantage Health Care Program replaced NH Health Protection Program. This program receives 90% of its money from the federal government and accounts for 1/3 of our state's budget! This program is one of the monsters the government creates by doing what it thinks is right. It was not surprising to me that it has so many supporters! All are getting money from the program. When this was put into effect, it was done with many concerns including a sunset phase to force its ends. Now the Democrats want it permanent and didn't allow discussion on improvements. This bill was passed and now moves on to Finance. Hopefully, they understand that this monster needs chains!

Cyril and I know that many parents are upset that SB 272 did not pass. Please feel free to contact us at info@claytoncyril4house.com Your Representatives Cyril Aures and Clayton Wood

Pittsfield Post Summer Schedule: To help the volunteers fully enjoy the days of summer, the Pittsfield Post will be published every two weeks from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Cook's Corner Crispy Portobellos with Marsala Sauce

Although I am not a vegetarian, my husband and I do aim to have a vegetarian meal at least once or twice a week. I've hesitated putting vegetarian recipes in this cooking column, but this one is great and so versatile, I decided to go for it. Dear readers, let me know if you'd like more of these. These crispy portobello mushrooms are divine. One of the things I really love about this recipe is the mushrooms also make great Portobello Burgers. Just follow the recipe up to the point of making the Marsala sauce. My husband loves his Portobello Burger with sauteed onions and Swiss cheese, I prefer mine with lettuce, tomato, sliced red onion and Cheddar. If you've never cooked with portobello mushrooms, I hope this recipe will inspire you. They are very easy to work with and deliciously "meaty". Bon appetit! MP Christakos

- ¼ cup flour
- 2 large eggs
- ½ tsp salt, divided
- ½ tsp black pepper, divided
- ½ cup panko breadcrumbs
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 4 portobello mushroom caps
- 4 TBSP olive oil, divided
- 2 cups sliced shallots (keep them in thin sliced rounds)
- 1 tsp chopped fresh thyme, plus more for garnish
- ½ cup chicken broth
- ½ cup Marsala wine (or dry sherry, cooking sherry is okay)
- ¼ cup sour cream
- Chopped fresh parsley for garnish

Trim the stems from the portobello caps and lightly scrape out some of the black gills, but don't scrape too deeply. Place flour in a shallow bowl. Lightly beat eggs and ¼ tsp each of salt and pepper in another shallow bowl. In a third shallow bowl, combine panko breadcrumbs and Parmesan cheese. Coat each mushroom cap in the flour, shaking off excess, then dip in the egg mixture, letting excess drain off, then coat in the breadcrumbs. Heat 3 TBSP oil in a large skillet. Working in batches if necessary, add the mushrooms and cook until lightly browned, 2 to 3 minutes per side. Transfer to a plate and keep warm. At this point, if you're making Portobello Burgers, you're ready to assemble your sammies. Otherwise, proceed as described below. Add remaining 1 TBSP oil to the skillet and then add the shallots and thyme and remaining ¼ tsp salt and pepper. Cook, stirring often, until browned, about 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in broth and Marsala wine (or sherry), scraping up any browned bits. Reduce heat and simmer slightly for 2 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream.

Serve the crispy mushroom caps with the sauce and garnished with fresh chopped parsley and thyme, if desired. These are great with a side of your favorite pasta, I like to cook a pot of farfalle (bow tie shaped) for this, but any cooked pasta or warm crusty rolls will do.

Pittsfield Elementary Fourth Grade Students go to the State House

On May 15, 4th grade students at Pittsfield Elementary School were able to take a field trip to the State House in Concord. Our students were AMAZING! They were well behaved, respectful, and they asked lots of great questions. Ms. Drew led us through a tour starting in the House of Representatives, to the Senate, to the Governor's office, and ending in the Hall of Flags. We were able to meet our two NH District 13 representatives, Clayton Wood and Cyril Aures, as well as our District 17 senator, Howard Pearl.

Huge thank you to our elected officials for providing our students with such a great learning experience.

Pittsfield Elementary School

To the Readers of the Post On May 15, Cyril and I got to do the thing that we like best at the State House. This time, the fourth graders from Pittsfield Elementary School visited. The purpose of the visit is to become familiar with the function of the three branches of government and how the laws are made. Virginia Drew, who runs the State House Visitor Center, and her staff manage the tour process and ensure the class learns the fundamentals of how the State House works, all consistent with the fourth-grade civic history curriculum. Cyril, Sen. Howard Pearl & I, the Representatives, and Senator for Pittsfield also participated. By the close of this article, you'll agree with us, and be impressed by the deep thinking of the 4th graders from Pittsfield.

The tour began in Reps Hall, where the 400 State Representatives work. Mrs. Drew proposed the infamous bill adding 10 minutes each day to their favorite subjects – lunch, recess & extracurricular activities, but ultimately getting home one hour later. To our surprise, the class favored learning and extending the day. After much "testimony" from the student representatives, the bill passed! THIS was the FIRST class in the history of school tours to ever pass the "Extra Hour" in school bill!

We moved to the Senate Chamber, where Senator Pearl clarified that the bill they passed as representatives would also have to pass the Senate and get signed by the Governor before it became law. Sen. Pearl shared and answered a broad variety of questions. The students showed excellent observation skills by asking several questions about the room's embellishments and dress codes. We finished the Senate tour with a group picture.

The next stop was the Governor's office, where the executive council meets with the Governor to run the state. Mrs. Drew made a student temporary Governor, asked him to select a 5-member Executive Council and nominate a Superior Court Judge. "Gov. George" showed great wisdom by nominating Phoenix to be a judge. The testimonials from the class verified that because of his listening ability, knowledge of the rules and disciplined nature, he would make a perfect appointment to the Supreme Court. The council of five approved the Governor's nomination for the bench. Mrs. Drew, whose daughter used to teach at PES, made this tour extremely fun and educational.

The final stop was the Hall of Flags. The history and flags of this display are moving and impress even the youngest of minds. I recommend this stop to anyone who visits the capital.

Cyril, Howard, and I would like to thank the Pittsfield fourth graders and teachers for a very interesting and rewarding "session" at the State House. We were impressed with their questions and attitude and pleased to be part of their class experience. Sincerely, Representatives Clayton Wood and Cyril Aures
