Meet the Farmer

Barnstead Farmer's Market Column

Black Dog Farm is located at 614 Province Rd. in Barnstead, NH, and owned by Jen and Brad Sullivan, and Lori Gove, Jen's mom. Black Dog Farm is a PYO blueberry farm started many years ago as The Hague Berry Farm. Jen and Brad bought the farm in 2017 and are continuing the tradition of blueberry picking. Jen is an amazing baker and specializes in blueberry muffins, pies, coffee cake, and the most amazing whoopie pies ever! She also makes blueberry dog treats, a favorite of our local pups. Brad is the famous "Birdman" and has been featured on NH Chronicle with his beloved turkey, Olly, since passed. Currently they have three male turkeys who enjoy causing havoc around the farm. Black Dog Farm also rescues birds that no one wants and considers itself a "no kill" bird farm. They have an emu, guinea hens, a goose, and many more.

This year the Sullivans, who have full-time jobs, decided to offer, at no cost to the Barnstead Farmer's Market, the opportunity for our vendors to use the farm stand, an additional location to our regular Saturday farmer's market and a little place to sell our market goodies! This is what our farmers do!

Find Black Dog Farm at the Barnstead Farmer's Market every other Saturday, which began on June 19th. Their products are at the farm stand on Fridays, 9am to 8pm, and Sundays, 1pm to 5pm. Blueberry season typically begins in late July or early August. Please stop by for some self-serve PYO picking! Their Blueberry Festival is July 30, 4pm to 8pm, with live music and activities for kids! For baking pre-orders, text Jen at 702-336-2562.

We are blessed to have many farmers in our surrounding communities, offering amazing products and supporting local efforts to provide access to local, fresh food! Stay tuned for the next Meet the Farmer, coming soon!

From a customer who bought a goose egg from Black Dog Farm:

"As I look into my fridge I see uncharted territory in a goose egg. Sometimes we have to venture into the unknown, and I didn't want that goose egg sitting in my refrigerator for days. Out of the fridge and into the frying pan, and onto the plate within minutes. It was rich, creamy and absolutely delicious. Take a walk into the unknown with a goose egg today."

Dear Crabby: When I go to the town dump, I sort all my trash first and place it in the truck in the proper order for fastest removal. Often I have to wait while others are sorting their trash, which is time consuming, inefficient, and could have been done elsewhere.

If the person is elderly, I don't want to make them feel bad by making a comment. But if it is a young person, I'm afraid my criticism might provoke an angry or violent reaction. What should I do? - Dumpy

Dumpy:

Say nothing. The dump is a place for trash disposal, not trash talk.

You are clearly an old foggy that thinks bad behavior is excused after a certain age. It isn't, and you need to stop thinking that way. Crabby

Rhubarb Berry Coffee Cake

Hoorah for rhubarb! Who doesn't love a good rhubarb and strawberry pie? Well, here's a different idea using these two lovely summer-time gems in a cake.

The boxed yellow cake mix makes this come together quickly. Find your fresh ingredients at our local farmers' markets and whip up one of these dandies today. It's great for breakfast or dessert. Enjoy!

1 pkg yellow cake mix (regular size), divided
½ cup brown sugar
2 Tbsp butter
2/3 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup sour cream
2 large eggs, room temperature
¼ cup all-purpose flour
1 & ½ cups finely chopped fresh or thawed (if frozen) rhubarb
1 & ½ cups sliced fresh strawberries
Cream cheese frosting or vanilla ice cream for serving

In a small bowl, combine ½ cup of cake mix and sugar; cut in the butter until crumbly. Add walnuts, set aside. This is your crumb mixture.

In another bowl, combine sour cream, eggs, flour and remaining cake mix; beat with an electric hand mixer on low speed for 30 seconds. Beat on medium speed for 2 minutes. Fold in the rhubarb and sliced strawberries.

Spread the mixture into a greased 13 x 9 baking dish. Sprinkle the top with the reserved crumb mixture. Bake at 350 for 35 to 40 minutes, or until a toothpick or cake tester inserted in the middle comes out clean. Cool on a wire rack.

To serve, either drizzle with cream cheese frosting, or serve with a good quality vanilla ice cream. Or just cut yourself a big slice and enjoy with your favorite cup of coffee or brewed tea. So good! MP Christakos

The Post Volunteers

Letter to the Post,

You don't know what you lost until it's gone.

To the Big Boss at NPR. You're Really Disappointing me not continuing The Exchange Hosted by Laura Knoy. This morning I am listening to Laura and guest Kevin Gardner, Master Stone Builder.

The Exchange helped form my opinion on the School Funding Issue. I used to blame the school because I had trouble paying my property taxes.

Boy was I wrong.

Now I blame the old men in the state house for doing a lousy job coming up with a stable funding plan that spreads out statewide, the cost of education.

Anyways, I loved listening to Kevin and all the history about walls. I was in a class listening to him at the Farm Museum in Milton about 30 years ago; he looked right at me and said "I bet you weren't this quiet in 3rd grade". I didn't want to tell him he was building it wrong.....I eventually learned different rock requires different building. Pittsfield has a lot of ledge I think compared to Hopkinton (where Kevin is from), so my walls are different.

I have learned so much about New Hampshire from people calling in on The Exchange. I learn so much about our past and our future listening to NPR.

I am heading out this morning to work on a culvert header wall in Pittsfield, I can't just smash rocks all day. I need The Exchange to keep me motivated and my brain working.

I can understand Laura retiring, which means working on something else. But, I know you can find someone else who would love her job and keep The Exchange going. Otherwise, I've got to ask myself, why am I working so hard?

I always imagined I would someday get on The Exchange myself. Anyways, I will miss Laura, but you can do something about keeping my show going!

Thanks for your consideration.
